Public consultation on Prevention and Early Help estates strategy

Supporting families and communities for the future

Bradford Council wants your view on its proposed changes to where we deliver Prevention and Early Help services for babies, children, young people and families across the District. This includes from where we deliver the children's centre core offer.

Prevention is about stopping problems emerging in the first place. Early Help is about preventing problems that are happening becoming worse.

What are we consulting about:

Bradford Council is carrying out a public consultation on its proposed estates strategy for Prevention and Early Help services.

The strategy looks at which buildings we currently use to deliver services, and how these buildings could be used in a better way in the future.

This could allow for more money to be spent on staff to support families rather than on buildings.

We are seeking your views on which buildings people use and what they use them for.

How can you have your say?

You can have your say on the proposal in the following ways:

- Attend one of our consultation events which are running across the district.
- Complete the online consultation survey.
- Pick up a survey at your local Family Hub or library and drop it off when you have completed it.

The consultation will start on 13 February and close on 7 May 2019.
